Scope boundaries

- Goldline prepares organisations for certification. An accredited certification body issues the certificate. These are separate roles and cannot be performed by the same party.
- Certification body fees, quoted per engagement rather than published, are paid directly to the certification body at cost with no Goldline margin. Goldline works inside whichever compliance platform you use, or without one. Platform licences are quoted separately and set out in full in your engagement letter.
- Where Goldline has implemented the ISMS it cannot also perform the clause 9.2 internal audit. Independence requires a different party.
- Penetration testing is delivered by an accredited testing partner and priced after scoping. Vulnerability scanning and managed detection and response are part of the Secure Compliance package, not of this readiness engagement.

Pricing model. Goldline does not bill day rates. Price is fixed at the diagnostic and confirmed in writing before work begins, and does not move afterwards unless scope changes and both parties agree in writing. A day rate rewards a slow engagement. A fixed scope rewards a finished one.
